I would like to put this building in front of my big shop close enough to run electric to the building for lights. I have no room in my big shop for the car that I want the building for. I would put it close to the overhead door of the big shop just leaving me enough room to get in + out of the big shop.

If I can put it there I won't have to bring in a lot of stone to put the building on because there is stone already there. The building will be on runners not on a concrete slab.

I need this building to put a car in, the big shop has my semi truck and my Kubota tractor in it so there is no room left for anything ~~more~~ in the big shop.

If I put the building anywhere but there, I wouldn't be able to get electric to it.

Thank you
